

About the Book –

‘Financial Planning for Families having Children with Special Needs’.

A special needs family requires a proper guidance as there are emotional and financial aspects involved in planning. A comprehensive special need plan encompasses financial aspects, legal planning matters, emotional concerns along with social and family support needs. This book details on the various factors which are important for a special needs family to address and bring in front the various aspects of planning within the constraints families face in the country. The book takes the readers through the experience of the families who have faced similar challenges and some real life case studies to illustrate the planning aspects.

About the Author- Jitendra P.S. Solanki

Jitendra P.S. Solanki is a financial planning expert with 15 years of financial service in corporate sector who started his own practice because of his passion to help special needs children families with their financial planning without anxiety, stress and tension. In his own words his aim is to bring in the families a sense of empowerment, so that they are able to provide for their loved one with special needs and to the whole family. That's the mission of PlanSpecialNeeds. For more detailed information log on to www.planspecialneeds.com. He has started this service exclusively for families with special needs dependent. Since 2010, after he started his independent practice, , he has met numerous families of this nature and gained a deep understanding into their personal, financial and legal requirements.

Married to a doctor who is also a Disability Expert, Jitendra is the proud father of two sons. He is a post graduate from IIT Roorkee and has earned the much-respected professional designation of Certified Financial planner (CFP CM). He is also a Chartered Trust and Estate Planner (CTEP TM) and a Member of The Chartered Institute of Securities & Investments, U.K. Jitendra, a frequent writer and speaker at public forums, shares his views and wisdom, especially on planning for families with special needs dependents, through various media groups and TV channels including ones dedicated to Person with Disabilities.